INDEX TO VOLUME 24, 1993

AUTHORS	TITLE	No.	Pages
Abbott, B.,	Small firms and trades unions in services in the 1990s	4	308–317
Bercusson, B.,	European labour law and sectoral bargaining	4	257–272
Buechtemann, C. et al.	Roads to work: school-to-work transition patterns in Germany and the US	2	97–111
Craddon, T.	The Tories and employment law in Northern Ireland: seeing unions in a different light?	1	59–70
Dorgan, T. and Grieco, M.,	Battling against the odds: the emergence of senior women trade union leaders	2	151–165
Findlay, P.	Union recognition and non-unionism: shifting fortunes in the electronics industry in Scotland	1	28–43
Fisher, J.,	Industrial relations and the construction of the Channel Tunnel	3	211–223
Gall, G.,	What happened to single union deals? a research note	1	71–75
Glynn, S. and Gospel, H.,	Britain's low skill equilibrium: a problem of demand	2	112–125
Grint, K.,	Japanisation? some early lessons from the British Post Office	1	14–27
Guest, D. et al.	The impact of employee involvement and organisational commitment and 'them and us' attitudes	3	191–200
Heery, E.,	Industrial relations and the customer	4	284–295
Heyes, J.,	Training provision and workplace institutions	4	296–307
Hunter, L. and Beaumont, P.B.,	Implementing TQM: top down or bottom up?	4	318–327
Marginson, P. et al.,	The emergence of the Euro-company: towards a European industrial relations?	3	182–190
Metcalf, D. et al.	Multi-unionism, size of bargaining group and strikes	1	3–13
Miller, K. and Steele, M.,	Employment legislation: Thatcher and after	3	224–235
Milner, S.,	Overtime bans and strikes: evidence on relative incidence	3	201–210
Ogden, S.,	Decline and fall: national bargaining in British water	1	44–58
Ramsay, H.,	Recycled waste: a response to Ackers et al.	1	76–80
Roberts, I.,	Where are European works councils?—an update	3	178–181
Staber, U. and Bogenhold, D.,	Self-employment: a study of seventeen OECD countries	2	126–137
Terry, M.,	Workplace unions and workplace IR: the Italian experience	2	138–150
Welch, R.,	The behavioural impact on trade unionists of the legislation of the 1980s: a research note	3	236–241
Wilkinson, B. et al.	Japan in Wales: a new IR	4	273–283

This journal would like to thank those listed below who assisted in the refereeing process

Phil Beaumont
Brian Bercusson
Huw Beynon
Boyd Black
Paul Blyton
Tim Claydon
Charles Craypo
Helen Desmond
Shirley Dex
John Dobson
Colin Duncan
Robert Elliot
Colin Gill
Michael Gold
John Goodman
Howard Gospel
Mark Hall
Jim Hamill
Richard Hyman
Michael Jackson
John Kelly
Syd Kessler
Ben Knight
Alice Lam
David Lane
John Leopold
Anders S. Olsson
S. Machin
Mick Marchington
Paul Marginson
Bob Mason
Rod Martin
Helen Rainbird
Al Rainnie
Harvie Ramsay
Mari Sako
Peter Seglow
Ramsumair Singh
Paul Stewart
John Stirling
David Storey
John Taylor
Michael Terry
Michael White
Allan Williams